

Directions to the Lily Fields in Lacamas Park above Round Lake

Start at the Lacamas Park Trailhead, 3344 NE Everett St, Camas (you can park in the small parking lot here or go a little further north to 35th and turn right and find an additional parking lot on the left). At the trailhead, take any of the paved paths past the house and restrooms, then head toward the right. Soon you'll be on a wide path between Round Lake on the left and Mill Pond on the right. Both of these lakes are part of an interconnected system that includes larger Lacamas Lake to the north.

After about a quarter mile, you'll come to a large device on the channel separating the two lakes. Mill Pond was used as the water source for the Camas paper mill and this device kept the floating wood and debris out of Mill Pond so it didn't get to the mill. Walk by this device and stay on the main trail and cross the Round Lake Dam. Round Lake is a natural lake, but the lake level rose twelve feet when this dam was built.

There is a network of trails, but head generally along the lake shore and you will be headed in the right direction. You'll soon climb a couple of switchbacks to a junction with the Lily Trail. Turn right on to the wide Lily Trail and you'll note a small side path going up to the left. This will be your return route. Continue straight ahead for about 1/10 of a mile, where there's a closed road. Turn left on the road and walk about 3/10 of a mile, past the trail to Woodburn Falls and you'll see a signed trail heading to the left. Follow this trail, the Camas Lily Loop Trail.

The Loop Trail is about a half mile long. You can return the way you came, or you can head right on the Round Lake Trail, completing the Round Lake Loop Hike in the same trip.

Enjoy these beautiful lily fields in April.
